

Early Frost* by Richard Aldon Clark

Alissa Rose

American composer Richard Aldon Clark has a deep appreciation for poetry and literature and for vocal chamber music, which he developed during his student years. These songs, together entitled Early Frost, are evocative settings of early Robert Frost poetry, which recently came into the public domain in the United States. Three settings are for solo instrument and voice, while three include the full ensemble: soprano, flute, viola, and bassoon.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=av9GyICrYUk>

Video performers:

Alissa Rose, soprano

Christine Moulton, flute

Richard Aldon Clark, viola

Gary Schultheis, bassoon